Dear Jim:

No doubt you have been wondering what courses I'm taking at Tech. Well, it is kind of hard to say because I keep changing, but I'll try to tell you about them. When I first got here I went to the vocational guidance center and they were supposed to tell me what I was fit for. I told the man I was interested in political science, but he suggested I be a politician. He asked me what my political convictions were. I said that I liked FDR, but I believed in voting for the best man. I started to tell him how come and he said in the first place my great uncle had been a genuine dyed-in-the-wool Republican and already said too much. I asked him how come and he said in the second place he had ruined my chances of being a genuine dyed-in-the-wool Seventeenth Generation Democrat and a genuine dyed-in-the-wool Seventh Generation Communist. But I did say that I voted for the best man showed some common sense. Then he said he guessed the report on my aptitude test and then he said he guessed it wouldn't make any difference what I took.

I took a psychology course at first but it was too hard on my eyes. The teacher separated all the students by three seats, and it was much easier on my eyes after the first week. I thought a lot of other courses, but the guy next to me in my room went crazy on the first day! My roommate told me I'd better start studying or my grades were going to be bad. I asked him how he figured out my grades on the campus. He said they graded on the curve, which seems to be a common practice in this school. Some students get As, some get Bs, and seven per cent get Fs. The way I figure it, if a curve complicated system. Seven per cent of the students get As, five percent get Bs, and seven percent get Fs. When I am in college, none of them will ever get beyond a Sophomore in college because they would all be flunked out in 14 years. I've often wondered why Tech is a Junior college.

More I hope.

I figure I can pass all right though. The guy who lives next door to me is always willing to help guys who are having trouble with their studies. He told me the key to any test for a dollar. I asked him if thought that was honest. He didn't say anything, but he thought that was honest. I got to go. My roommate finally beat the pin ball machine at Woody's for two games, and he is giving a victory dinner tonight. As ever,

Jack
